BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 18.—Shortening all United States Argentina air records, five American army "flying fortresses" arrived triumphantly over Buenos Aires today and came to rest at El Palomar field. The planes began landing at 10:55 a. m. E. S. T.

The giant four-engine bombers, here on a good-will trip, left Lima, Peru, at 10:35 o'clock last night and made the hop across the Andes without a hitch.

In spite of adverse winds and poor visibility, the aircraft made the 2200-mile transcontinental leg of their journey in 12 hours, 20 minutes.

The entire 4895-mile one-stop flight from Miami, Fla., consumed 27 hours, 50 minutes of actual flying time at a rate of 178 miles an hour. Elapsed time was 34 hours, 5 minutes.

Thousands in Welcome
Roofs were thronged as the planes circled low over the city in a preliminary greeting. Thousands more, led by government, army, navy and United States embassy officials, stood a host wave of 100 degrees to welcome the airmen at the field. In the space of two days, the Americans had flown from northern winter to torrid summer.

The sixth plane, which was forced to wait at Lima for minor repairs, arrived here today.

Looking from Croton avenue, a large stock of stone can be seen piled up in the Ray street quarry, which is to be used as ten inch stone road base for city streets. This is a W. P. A. project.

The weather here seems to have gotten a little mixed up in his season during the past week or so. Instead of winter, the weather has been very springlike. The only thing Pa News hopes won't happen will be that the fruit buds will get such a start a late freeze will kill them off.

Workmen are rounding the corner at Wallace avenue and Highland avenue today, Pa News notes. This will be an aid to traffic at this busy street intersection.

Add sure sign of approaching spring, a group of young men driving golf balls on the Rosena grounds yesterday afternoon.

Catch as catch can? Out in the Croton District, a lady raised the kitchen window, and reached for the bottle of milk on the ledge, but as she grasped the bottle, a hand out of the darkness also grabbed it and got away with it. The lady screamed, and her husband rushed downstairs and after her "bandit" only to give up the chase when they were pell-mell up a very muddy alley.

President On Wage-Hour Legislation In House

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Administration leaders of the house, fearful that wage-hour legislation will be bogged by a bitter party quarrel, today planned to urge President Roosevelt to intervene.

A conference between Democratic members of the Rules and Labor committees and the president, to agree upon a compromise measure, was to be proposed to the White House.

The House Labor committee, it was disclosed, is even more badly split than when it first presented a wage-hour bill to the house in the special session. It was defeated.

Rep. Ramspeck (D) of Georgia, one of the leaders in the fight for the senate-approved Black-Connery bill, declared the whole scheme for wage-hour legislation must be revised to assure passage. The announcement of Chairman Mary T. Norton (D) of New Jersey, that she would present a new bill next Thursday similar to the one rejected, stirred the ire of the house leaders.

Rep. Rayburn of Texas, Democratic leader, told her that her proposed measure would not pass the rules committee and suggested a conference with members of that committee.

Since Mrs. Norton has abandoned the petition method of getting the bill to the house floor, it must be first approved by the rules committee before it can be acted upon. For several months southern Democratic members of that committee refused to grant it right-of-way in the house.

SPANISH WARSHIPS BELIEVED ATTACKERS
Marseilles, France, Feb. 18.—A mysterious attack by a "squadron of warships" on the French passenger steamer El Mansour was revealed in an S. O. S. from the vessel today.

Plying between Port Vendres, France, and Oran, Algeria, the ship was shelled 10 miles south of Cape Creus in the Mediterranean, according to the distress call.

Two hours later the master of the 5813 ton vessel, carrying between 100 and 200 passengers, radioed that all was well and that the voyage was being continued.

Spanish Warships
Her first S. O. S. said one shell fell within 175 yards of the ship. The master advised he believed the attackers were Spanish warships.

The El Mansour gave her position as a few miles south of Cape Creus, which lies 10 miles from the Franco-Spanish frontier on the Mediterranean coast.

Her S. O. S. mentioned a "squadron" of attackers.

The vessel was due shortly at Port Vendres from Oran, Algeria. She is not listed in Lloyd's Registry of Shipping.

For more than an hour after the ship sent her distress call, she was out of contact with shore. Her owners tried desperately to establish contact by radio.

Franco Refuses To Halt Attacks Upon Civilians

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Generalissimo Francisco Franco, head of the Insurgent Spanish government, today rejected Britain's request that he refrain from bombing civilian populations.

Franco expressed regret over the loss of life involved in bombings of "open" undefended towns.

But his reply to a British note said, in effect, that the insurgent government was not able to take any action.

Britain's representations were made after hundreds were killed in almost daily raids on Barcelona, which resulted in retaliatory Loyalist raids on Seville, Salamanca, and other rebel cities.

President Says Effort Under Way To Raise Income

Economic Policies Of Administration In Present Recession Are Outlined

SAYS FARM PRICES NEED TO BE RAISED

Says Restoration Of Prosperity Problem Being Attacked On Many Sides

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—President Roosevelt announced today the administration's economic policies are being directed toward balancing of various commodity prices so that national income can be raised and prosperity restored.

Mr. Roosevelt specifically mentioned farm prices as one of the group that needs to be raised. He said certain other prices such as those in the building industry group have remained quite level for the past few years.

No specific monetary action is contemplated at the present time to increase those prices considered too low, the president said.

He said the problem is currently being attacked on many fronts, foremost of which are the new farm bill, the new housing program, the expanding relief program and release of gold into the nation's banking structure.

The president explained to his crowded press conference, with the aid of charts drawn for him by administration economists, that an increase in certain commodity prices does not necessarily bring about a rise in the cost of living. A moderate rise in wholesale prices, he added, will affect living costs only slightly.

"This administration has from the beginning pursued a policy designed to promote full employment of our human and material resources," Mr. Roosevelt declared.

"That continues to be our policy. The productive power of our workers and our resources, is fully utilized, can provide and maintain a national income far above any levels we have yet reached."

At the same time bills were sent for consideration of the bill on the floor of the senate Monday.

Stricken from the measure by the committee was the house-approved Latham amendment to refuse aliens relief. The committee felt that existing law giving citizens preference along with war veterans over aliens should be retained.

Mrs. Wallace's body was discovered by a 12 year old son, William, when he returned home from school with his three sisters, Ruth, 14, Alida, 12 and Bessie, 8.

Coroner S. C. Ward gave a murder verdict after he examined the body.

Fire Station Burns Down

CHESTER, Pa., Feb. 18.—Members of the volunteer fire company at nearby Brookhaven were embarrassed today. They started a grass fire near their headquarters, but the flames got beyond control and burned down the fire house.

Adding insult to injury, most of the 20 members were given a ducking when a fire hose burst because of excessive pressure. Although the fire house was destroyed at a loss of several thousand dollars, the volunteers will still be able to go to fires since they managed to save the $5,000 motor pump.

VIENNA, Feb. 18.—Austria's Nazi government sought today to combat a flight of capital from the country, which suddenly developed as the latest complication stemming from Chancellor Adolf Hitler's sensational coup.

At the same time, the Austrian chancellor, Kurt Schuschnigg, was faced with rebellious rumblings from radical Austrian workers and from church circles which disapproved of Hitler's drive to reduce Austria to the status of a "vassal state" of Germany.

Schuschnigg received a number of leaders of the Austrian patriotic front and explained to them the significance of the swift-moving events of the past few days.

No Argument
When the meeting became stormy, the Austrian chancellor was reported to have banged the table and roared:

"I am not here to argue with you. I am here to tell you what is to be done. If you knew what I know you would agree."

Reports that Schuschnigg had fainted during this meeting were widespread, but were officially denied. The chancellor's outburst was provoked when the meeting became (Continued On Page Two)

RELIEF IS RUSHED TO STRICKEN AREA

Northern End Of Town Is Flattened Out By Fury Of Twister

(BULLETIN)
SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 18.—With at least 22 persons dead and with more than two score injured as the result of a tornado that struck with devastating effect in the oil town of Rodessa last night, state authorities and relief workers today strove valiantly to care for the injured.

Handcuffed by muddy roads, ambulance crews worked with all possible speed in their search for the injured and the dead.

Twelve bodies were taken to Atlanta, Texas, followed later by streams of sad-faced men and women who sought to identify their missing relatives.

Roads Are Barred.
Governor Richard Leche sent a detail of 14 additional state police to Rodessa to help preserve order. Reports received here said that there was much petty lawlessness and looting of homes. Roads were barred into Rodessa and only those persons proving they had legitimate business were permitted to pass.

In addition to the state police, the governor sent Adjutant-General Raymond Fleming, head of the Louisiana national guard, to the stricken town. At Baton Rouge it was said the governor had not definitely decided whether to declare martial law. It was the opinion of his aides that he would not.

Heavy Property Damage.
Reports received here said that property damage at Rodessa would run into thousands of dollars. The town is in the heart of the rich north Louisiana oil section. Many of its buildings are of flimsy structure. Rodessa's population is approximately 5,000.

C. T. P. GROUP PARTY AT LEGION HOME

As a medium of resuming sessions of the C. T. P. group of the B. and O., a delicious 1 o'clock luncheon dinner was served in the American Legion Home Thursday afternoon at a beautifully appointed table.

Mrs. Robert Peterson and daughter Arlene, had charge of the patriotic appointments that predominated, novel silhouettes of George Washington, against a background of red, white and blue, were set off with lighted candles. Places were set for twenty-two.

An election of officers took place, with Mrs. J. F. Tullis, retiring president, who has served most successfully in that capacity for the past two years, presiding. The results follow: President, Mrs. Fred Lindorfer; vice president, Mrs. James Hammond; secretary, Mrs. Clyde Nicholson; treasurer, Mrs. A. G. Skundor.

Appointed on the 1938 social committee are Mrs. Howard Shriver, Mrs. Ray Nolte, Mrs. Les Whalen, Mrs. Frank Doyle, Mrs. D. C. Buzzard, Mrs. J. B. Clark, Mrs. George Short, Mrs. M. M. Wagner, Mrs. J. F. Tullis and Mrs. L. L. Harper.

A period of bingo filled in the social period that ensued with several winning prizes.

Their March meeting falls on the sixteenth, and will take place in the Legion Home, the particulars to be announced.

Special guests included Arlene Peterson, Jean Glen and Mrs. William Mori, the latter of Youngstown, O.

CITY MANAGER GOVERNMENT

The city manager form of government, thirty years old this winter, has had more success than is popularly realized.

Beginning in 1908 with Staunton, Va., it has been adopted by 165 cities and seven counties. Eighteen of them have 100,000 or more population. Moreover, 155 cities and 30 counties have adopted some modification of the manager-council plan. Cincinnati is the largest city substituting business methods for political regimes with national party labels.

Some manager governments have been more successful than others. Cleveland, for example, tried and then threw out the system. Critics who cite that experience against the idea overlook the fact that Cleveland really accomplished some big things and achieved worth while economies under its manager, in spite of the fact that the effort was hampered by an unfriendly council and political interference.

No governmental system, however, can be wholly successful unless it has intelligent, continued, popular support. Too often the American way is to take an interest on election days only and leave matters to officials and professional politicians the rest of the time.

MUSIC AND EMOTIONS

It must have been the age of innocence in music when Bach, Beethoven and Haydn were content with melodies of folk songs, the harmonies of nature and the resources of their own imaginations as the inspiration of musical masterpieces. Modern composers must produce musical renditions of rivets, city noises, tropic cruises, trans-oceanic airplane flights, Russia's five-year-plan, machinery and the clash of ideas. There is good authority for the proposition that the enjoyment of good music is an emotional rather than an intellectual experience. That is probably true of the old classics, but unless some of this modern music, which is said to be good, is made intelligible by an explanation of what it is all about the only likely experience is one of jarred senses with now and then a moment's release from pain.

RADIO MAKE-BELIEVE

It is reported that radio comedians—the human ones—are distinctly worried about their inanimate rivals. Charlie McCarthy, Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck and Popeye draw listeners away from the human comedians any time.

What is the cause of the current human fascination for these imaginary characters? Their lines, of course, are written by human beings. Their voices are the voices of cheerfully anonymous—and well-paid—human performers. The public knows that Edgar Bergen is the voice of dummy Charlie, but it acts as though Charlie were a real person and pays no thought to Edgar.

So we find ourselves in a radio era in which childish make-believe has taken the place of adult humor and entertainment in popular esteem. It would be more disturbing to a thoughtful person, did he not remember that the public has had such obsessions before and not over them in due course of time.

A SENTIMENTAL JOURNEY

Former President Hoover is now in Belgium on a sentimental journey which should prove to be one of the most pleasant experiences of a life filled with labor and achievement and also with its own share of pathos and disappointment.

Mr. Hoover rose to the height of his prestige as the able, resourceful and tireless director of a great work of mercy. It was through his initiative, supported by the sympathetic and generous aid of Americans, that the sufferings of the Belgians were assuaged when the defenses of the land were reduced to dust and a German staff officer, an obscure person named Ludendorff, came knocking at the gates of Liege with his savage hilt. There was anguish enough in the land as it was. But without the energy and competency of Mr. Hoover, who seemed always able to conjure up food and money, clothing, medical supplies and other necessities of life, the misery of the Belgian people would have been infinitely worse.

Now, twenty years after, the little land whose sorrows he shared so intimately is showing him its "unalterable attachment." This should indeed be a pleasant journey for Mr. Hoover—these few weeks spent in the midst of people eager to manifest their gratitude for unselfish services given in a time of great crisis.

DRIVER IS KEY TO HIGHWAY SAFETY

The Automotive Safety Foundation, which claims the active cooperation of twelve national civic, educational, business and motoring organizations, has announced that a campaign has been begun to further the cause of highway safety through a seven-point program. These factors are legislation, motor vehicle administration, enforcement, engineering, education, personnel training and research.

The foundation's campaign can be encouraged, of course, whatever its specific course or methods. After all, traffic deaths are not stationary—they are increasing; perhaps 40,000 persons will be killed by cars this year. Co-ordination of the manifold safety movements has been needed for years, but even independent and small organizations have valiantly promoted the cause as a whole.

The fundamentals continue. There are needed uniform traffic laws, elimination of highway construction faults, sterner enforcement and stricter mechanical tests for cars. Campaigns, whether abortive or permanent, feverish or calmly educative, recognize this in common.

Yet more and more they are concentrating on the driver himself; he is the ultimate key to safety for himself and other road-users. His temperament, mental endowment, reflexes, physical habits and condition, social attitudes and amenability to law in general are increasingly being studied.

No longer does mere ability to start, steer and stop a car for a few moments under official supervision justify a licensed privilege (never a right) to operate a potential death-dealing machine, whatever its speed. Campaigns which merely follow hackneyed rote and preach vaguely about safety without emphasis on the driver are doomed to failure.

We still have a great many causes for anxiety in this great, broad land of ours, but, happily, they do not include Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin.

"It's June in January," caroled the song writer, which may not be factually accurate, but it doesn't seem too much to say that it's May in February.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILD DAWDLES

"Dear Dr. Myers: I am writing this letter, thanking you for the help I have received from your articles, especially on the problem of nagging and scolding."

"I have three youngsters ages six, eight and nine, that I have to get off to school each morning. I used to find myself worn out by the time they left the house, from scolding and nagging for them to hurry and get dressed, washed, eat their breakfast, clean teeth, pick up their clothes and get off to school by 8:30."

"I have prepared a chart for each child, with a list of the different duties they must do before leaving for school. Each day that they have accomplished their duty well they receive a mark. At the end of the week if they have a perfect record they receive a gold star. They resent the idea of 'No argument, which they do plenty of, so we omitted that from our list and instead used two gold stars which stands for 'Good Behavior.' You can believe me, they are very proud of their charts and stars, and are always anxious to show their daddy, when he comes in at night, the credit they have earned."

"This is teaching them to help themselves, also feel a responsibility all of their own. Say nothing of the confusion it saves and relief it gives to me."

Stars Better Than Stripes
This mother has demonstrated that stars may be more powerful than stripes. Her plan has wide application and great possibilities. Any definite plan which cultivates responsibility in the children and relieves the parents' nerves and tongue would seem to have merits.

Not all mothers might be so successful with stars as this mother was, nor will all be so able to discipline themselves. Neither will all children respond to stars.

When the child is taken to school by the father or must take a bus, the time of going being definite, the child should know he must be ready or he will be left. If he is, let him sit doing nothing for a few hours with little or no opportunity for normal fun during the day. Let him do the worrying about getting off on time. The most effective way to help him is never to say "hurry," nor to help him in his things. Let him take the consequences. If the school does not make them adequate, provide them yourself, but not with your speech or emotions.

I discuss this problem quite at length in "Helping Our Children Succeed at School," 12 letters to parents, all of which may be had at cost by sending 15 cents to the Health and Parent Education Association, 3525 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, O.

"WHY DID THEY EVER MARRY?"

Dull people wonder about them. Friends who have known her all their lives ask, "Why on earth she ever married him." His friends are puzzled too. They know him so well. They knew just the kind of girl he was. They thought he'd NEVER marry. They say, in scorn, in condescension, in bewilderment—"What does he see in her?" They prophesy disaster.

They wag their heads and promise that this odd marriage never will turn out well. Because he likes ham and eggs and she likes waffles, because he likes a gay time and she likes a quiet one because he talks all the time and she prefers to listen, because he dances, but she prefers to play the violin; because he's a business man and she's an artist. Because they're so very, very different.

Well, what DOES she see in him and what DOES he see in her? It's not our business. It's theirs alone and they will not tell us. We do not count in their lives. We are the scoffers, the doubters, we at this moment are alien to them. But all his life he had been waiting for her. He had been waiting to grow wise and to reach that moment when he could tell in love with so fine a woman as this. And she, too, had been waiting for him. Neither of them knew that this was true. He did not know he was merely marking time for her sake. Nor did she know that, either. They'd have scoffed if you had told them such a sentimental truth.

But when they met at last, or when they saw each other with new eyes—after knowing each other for years—they fell in love. They cannot tell how it happened, how each for the other came so beautifully to life. But each, in the other, saw Beauty and Peace and Strength and Understanding. And each said, "With this one, I can be myself at last!"

So there they are, he and she. And the world thinks it strange she should have married him and that he—out of all the women in the world—should have chosen her. But they see something in each other that only they can see—and that explains everything. And when we go to their house to dinner we'll have a merry time.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 5:39. Sun rises tomorrow 6:49.

Spain has been feeling the effects of depression and De Prussians for some time now, it is reported.

After being married for 48 years a Tennessee couple split up, cut their house in two, and are now living apart on the same lot. She accused him of being just an old fox hunter, and he said she "talked too much." Well, the talk of some women drives men to worse things than fox hunting lots of times.

Man can't so vain. When he brags about his new boy, he usually admits that his wife was also present.

Another proof that a little learning is a dangerous thing is proven by statistics from Sing Sing prison. During a recent year, thirty-six of the inmates were college graduates. Two had gone to trade schools, two had gone through high school, and 1,013 had just gone to grade school. There were only 61 who had never received any schooling.

The two things that make prices go up are scarcity and the approach of an easy mark.

Women, who are constantly moving the furniture around, should take warning. In Worcester, Mass., recently a mother changed places of the bed and bureau, and the six-year-old son, who was accustomed to making a running jump into the bed, collided head-on with the bureau. The bureau it seems, was undamaged.

Little things count. A $2.50 glass partition in a car makes the back-seat occupant feel $1,000.00 richer.

It isn't work that kills you, but the people who have the knack of making your emotions boil when you are trying to work.

Hosiery manufacturers seems to be just one step ahead of the times. All of the time. We note the following advertisement relative to women's stockings. "In colors that flatter your legs—jaunty, mica, gunmetal, thrill, snap, frisky. Zowie!"

RATHER FRANK!

Two rival, but friendly shopkeepers were talking things over. "When you're opening sale close," asked one. "When your closing sale opens," the other replied.

Protection slips are sold by the numbers writers, guaranteeing the holder that they will not lose if their number is called at bank night at a Youngstown theater, and they are not present as required under the rules.

Embarrassing
Two men left a banquet together. They had wine exceptionally brisk.

"When you get home," said one, "if you don't want to disturb your family, address at the foot of the stairs, fold your clothes carefully and creep up to the room."

They met next day at lunch.

"How did you get on?" asked the other.

"Fine, until the last thing," said the other. "I took off my clothes at the foot of the stairs and folded them neatly. I didn't make a sound. But when I reached the top of the stairs I found I had walked right into a night club."

By Francine Markel

DEAR MISS MARKEL—I frequently have occasion to write notes to my maid and I am at a complete loss as to how to sign my name. Should I write "Miss" before my signature or simply "Anna Smith"?

Answer—Sign "Miss Smith" on your letters to your maid. On all social notes, even to those who call you "Miss," you must sign "Anna Smith" only. And on business letters your correct signature is also Anna Smith—preceded by "Miss" in all instances.

Good Taste Tests
1. Should the maid or her employer supply the former's uniforms?
2. Is it proper to deduct from a servant's salary the cost of any dishes she may have accidentally broken?
3. Should an employer assume medical expenses of a servant taken ill on the former's premises?Answers
1. In most homes, both uniforms and aprons are supplied by the employer.
2. No. If she continues to break china, she should be either dismissed or given less responsible work to do.
3. The employer is not obligated to do so except in cases of compensation for accidents, but as a rule he does so if the illness was contracted while the servant was in his home.

Textbook For Newspapermen. Difficult To Get At Truth. Have To Penetrate Screens.

By LESLIE EICHEL, Central Press Columnist

A TEXTBOOK for would-be newspapermen arrived on my desk today. It is a thick book, formidable in appearance. One of its exhibits is a feature service I helped to produce. Yet, I wonder, I wonder, I wonder whether textbooks ever will make a newspaperman.

The weakest I know in the game studied journalism. And, of course, some of the best. But the men who have the inherent ability to get at the truth and to present it fairly, whether it be in news or in pictures, are men who have worked their way up from the bottom by means of the hardest kind of experience.

There simply is no text book for that. The training is far vaster, more brutal. It is contact with life itself, life without and within. In some "Pan" or others, I am less blessed; I have been slow to mature. I wonder whether I ever shall mature sufficiently to have the comprehensive understanding of humanity so essential to men who write of events.

DIFFICULT TODAY
Unbiased news, and news interpreted fairly, is difficult to obtain today. The man with truth and impartiality as his sole objective sometimes wonders how he ever can get it.

And it is not because there is so much propaganda one way or another, but because the few who are leaders are groping this way and that, and the mass of people, drawn by mirages hither and thither, and inflamed by nationalistic passions and blinded by superstitions and prejudices, wander far, far afield. It is easy to be a snappy or caustic commentator, making a play on this or that personality, or republishing superstitions and prejudices in a new and succulent coating. But it is not easy to find the road and to learn where people are going. And it is still more difficult to state the conclusions in honesty and with impartiality.

The training is far vaster, more brutal. It is contact with life itself, life without and within. In some "Pan" or others, I am less blessed; I have been slow to mature. I wonder whether I ever shall mature sufficiently to have the comprehensive understanding of humanity so essential to men who write of events.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

TALKING SENSE
Time is demonstrating the folly of the incredibly expensive and damaging war waged against the electric utility industry by the federal government.

In an endeavor to end this political attack on the interests of private citizens, which in many ways reminds one of Japan's attack on China, Wendell L. Wilkie, president of the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation, met with the president of the United States recently to discuss the subject of an administration-utilities "peace pact."

While Mr. Wilkie spoke only for the properties he heads, his views by and large, are approved by the great bulk of utility managements. For several years he has been the outstanding spokesman for the industry. In his memorandum, he informed the president that a satisfactory relationship could be worked out "without injury to legitimate investment and well within the broad framework of our social objectives." On the question of property valuation, long a point of controversy between the utilities and the administration, he proposed this two-point formula:

1. That the utilities eliminate "surpluses" in property values assigned to them by the Federal Trade Commission.

2. That the prudent investment theory of rate-making—based on what was honestly and prudently invested in physical property, as against the present theory which likewise takes into consideration replacement value—be accepted.

On the subject of the Federal-owned Tennessee Valley Authority which competes with the privately-owned Commonwealth and Southern system, he advocated that a multiplicity wishing to establish its own system to distribute TVA power buy out the existing private system at a price determined by a fair tribunal and that such municipal purchases be paid for by the city, without grants and subsidies from the federal government.

The importance of this program is beyond calculation to all industry, to all workers, to all taxpayers to everyone with a stake in the United States and the future. It would release hundreds of millions annually in spending power. It would assure the United States the best in power service at the lowest possible cost. In the moderate words of the New York Times, "It is a program of peace and good sense for the settlement of a long-continuing controversy which has been costly to the country."

What Noted People Say

(International News Service) MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Councilman William Burbridge explains why the city council has assigned a spy squad to watch alien gamblers: "If there is to be any cheating, I want to see the right people do it—local people."

LONDON—Sir Cecil Clementi says Japan has "sucked the brains of the white people."

"With humility, she sat at the feet of Westerners while she learned everything there was to learn from them. Now she has thrown her teachers aside and means to dominate the western Pacific."

NEW YORK—Fred A. G. Smith reveals the aim of the 4,000 members of the international order of Fred Smiths: "Our program is that whenever there is a depression, to hold banquets and forget about it. We find that the brain trust only causes brain fog. This goes for recessions, too."

CHICAGO—President Robert M. Hutchins, University of Chicago, scores the belief that students can be taught a business: "The only way to learn a job is to do a job. Colleges can do no more than train minds so that they can be adjusted quicker to any job."

HINTS ON ETIQUETTE
Stationery used for business letters should have dignity and quality. White paper is considered the most desirable.

With ten followers he is a bandit; with a thousand followers he is a general; with a victorious army he is a great liberator.

TODAY Is The Day

Copyright 1937 Central Press By CLARK KINNAIRD

FRIDAY, FEB. 18

Once Upon Feb. 18th—George Peabody reversed the social order and expended millions he made in Europe in the United States, becoming the greatest philanthropist the country had before Rockefeller.

Like Rockefeller, he started out with little besides ambition and brains. He was born 143 years ago today in Danvers (later Peabody), Mass., where he started to make his living at 11 as helper in a store. Before he was 20, he was a millionaire and head of a large banking house in London.

His first notable donations were to Arctic exploration and the promotion of Anglo-American relations, but he eventually devoted most of his philanthropies to provisions for education of the masses and improvement of the housing of working men.

After he had disposed of one fortune, another great one was created for him by his faith during the War Between the States in the survival of the Union. He invested to the limit in government bonds during the conflict, when their prices fell to rock bottom. Much of this wealth he devoted to promotion of education in the South. Thousands of Ante-Bellum children in states laid waste by war, owed their schooling to George Peabody.

Great Britain could not induce him to become a citizen and accept a title, but when he died Westminster Abbey was opened for the first time to the funeral of a private citizen. (Continued On Page Five)

Garwig And Kelliger Receive Rings And Barge Gets Watch

AWARDS MADE AT STREET CAR BANQUET

Three operators of the New Castle Street Railway Company were awarded medals of honor at the annual safety banquet of the Pennsylvania transportation system yesterday when they received awards for their records of safe operation.

Two of these men, C. J. Garwig and A. C. Kelliger, received jeweled rings in appreciation of their completion of their tenth year in the service without an accident charged against their record.

The third man honored, D. H. Barge, was awarded a gold watch for the completion of five years or less, with a similarly accident-free record.

These men were among the twenty-seven on the future transportation system receiving awards at the annual banquet in honor of 247 operators who had operated either the first or the second half of 1937 without chargeable accident, in all twenty rings and seven watches were presented by R. N. Graham, vice president of the transportation system.

Good Records

In expressing the company's appreciation for the fine work for safety in streets and on highways of the operators, Mr. Graham pointed out that every man in New Castle who had been in the service five years or longer had received a watch for five accident-free years while nine of them, or 36 per cent, of those in the service ten years or longer, had received rings for ten-year accident-free records.

For the system as a whole 171, or 86 per cent, of those in the service five or more years, have received watches, and 51, or 30 per cent, of those in the service ten years or longer, have received rings.

Special buses took the New Castle delegation to Youngstown for the safety celebration. The operators were joined by their wives and company officials in paying tribute to the safety records established in the past year. Two dinners were held, one at noon for the men and late duty and one in the evening for the early men. Following the dinners a program of entertainment was given, the program closing with the presentation of the safety awards by Mr. Graham.

1564—Galileo Galilei was born. It is well known that he was persecuted by ecclesiastical authorities for his belief that the Sun did not revolve around the Earth. Not so well known is the fact that men of science attacked him also. When he announced he had discovered spots on the Sun, orthodox astronomers retorted: "If anything is pure and perfect, it is the Sun," and assailed Galileo. Of course he had one advantage of them, for he had devised a telescope after reading of a Dutchman's glass for "bringing things nearer." But he was blind when he made some of his most important discoveries.

In a suit filed Thursday in the office of Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar, Norman A. Walker asks $30,782.50 for injuries and automobile damages suffered when his car was struck on December 24, 1937 by a car driven by Eugene Hubert Arnold. The suit is directed against Arnold and his father, August Arnold.

It is alleged that at about five or six o'clock on the morning of the day mentioned Walker's car was on the jacks of a service station on Route 422 some 13 miles northwest of New Castle. The car driven by Arnold is alleged to have come around a bend in the road at such speed that the driver could not negotiate the curve and crashed into Walker's car. Walker was standing near the car and was hurled many feet away.

Because of the age of Eugene Hubert Arnold, who is 29, it is asked that a guardian ad litem be appointed and Mr. Edgar has been appointed. The plaintiff alleges that he was in the hospital for 33 days, suffered severe injuries from which he will never recover.

The World At A Glance

In the chosen as talent comes to the good painter, composer, musician, surgeon. Even with talent, the conception comes only with study and endeavor, and supreme honesty, a study that must begin in the earliest days and never ends.

There are honest men and capable men who find themselves unfitted. Or, rather, their editors find them unfitted. They ought to step out.

They ought to step out in the interest of humanity, which can be led sadly astray by a bungling writer or editor. In this profession, their mischief can be uncanceled.

WE KNOW SO LITTLE
Alas, the best of us have such little knowledge that sometimes I shiver over the lines we write, the heads we conceive, the picture layouts we concoct.

A man came into the office today as the book lay on the desk. He laid down his product. It was poor. "Tell me," he said, "the truth."

He heard one man's approximation of him. If he ever will amount to anything in this business — or profession — he will overcome his present lack of ability and produce something worth while. But in the hundreds and hundreds who have seen that occur, although I have hoped against hope. If the spark of genius does not shimmer in even a feeble glow, there is no hope.

WHY THIS COLUMN?

Peculiar column, for a news commentator, isn't it?

Yes. It's this way — for a long, long time I have been badgered to "write something" or "make a speech" or "poetry in pictures" all about the part of the profession in which I happen to be. I should rather go through the hardest kind of work than make a speech of any kind, anyway, or speak with authority on this "profession". But this time I decided to go ahead, for that textbook, with a page that I edited as one of its chief exhibits.

seems to me to be not quite the thing. Oh, it will do in college. But there is nothing fundamental about it, nothing fundamental such as we, who try to penetrate this fog daily, meet.

Yet, it may be the best book of its kind.

But it gives no clue to meeting life head-on and retaining a clear head, nevertheless.

To successfully launder elastic garments, use lukewarm water and mild soap suds applied on a brush. The garment should not be pulled or stretched, rinse thoroughly and lay the garment on a towel on a flat surface until it is dry. And never put it, too close to direct heat.

New Plan To Meet Recession

DETROIT, Feb. 18.—The Good Star Products Bar and Restaurant Equipment company today "launched" time to its 40 employees in a plan to stabilize employment. Inside workers normally employed on a five-day week were put on a four-day week with no pay cut, company officials announced. Later, when business conditions are better, the employees have agreed to "pay back" the time they are borrowing now.

Crowd At Senior High Hears Dr. Albert, First Of Five Rotary Lecturers

Replying to an open forum question prompted by his illuminating hour-long address on "Can America Live Unto Itself?" Dr. Allen D. Albert, Paris, Ill., one-time newspaper editor and publisher and keen observer of the international scene, told a large lecture crowd here last night that "men and women in their fifties may expect not to live to see another war."

Dr. Albert spoke in Senior high school auditorium, the first lecture of five who will face the New Castle public in the Rotarians "Institute for International Understanding." He had been introduced by President Walter W. Duff of the Rotary club.

The crowd had come to the speaker's thought-provoking and world-embracing message and he had called for questions.

"Does the speaker think there will be another war?" someone asked. "Two years ago," Dr. Albert responded, "the answer would have been 'yes,' but today there is a perceptible relaxation in the capitals of the world—and I hope it's not as boxers relax."

He reported that, compared with two years ago, there has been a "quieting" throughout the whole world. America's material blessings as a nation were pointed to throughout the speaker's prepared address. He stressed that many of her great cities are far more richly blessed in some ways than all the countries of the world combined. But he demonstrated in the talk that "no nation has ever been able to get along by itself."

The nation's present neutrality law was branded "as stupid a piece of legislation as was ever passed," but he didn't elaborate on the statement.

The prestige and influence of the United States, Dr. Albert told the audience is far-reaching. And he asserted that "when President Roosevelt censured Japan, recently, he dealt it as fatal a blow as though he had sunk her navy."

Asked what will happen to China and Japan, Dr. Albert said there's one thing certain—"you can be sure they'll save their face."

Much of the lecture message was a scholarly economics discourse in which the speaker impressed upon his listeners the necessity for world co-operation.

President Duff handled the question period for the club last night. John S. Moore, lecturer and native of New Castle, speaks on "Is A European War Inevitable?" on Thursday evening, February 24. That night Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools, will preside.

No New Moon Is Seen This Month

One February Every 79 Years
Has No New Moon, University Professor States

(International News Service)
CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 18.—Sky gazers who watch for a new moon this month will look in vain, according to Dr. Everett I. Yowell, director of the University of Cincinnati Observatory.

In a narrow zone in the far Pacific between 150 degrees west longitude and the international date line 180 degrees, a new moon was visible February 1, but nowhere else on the globe is it to be found during the entire month, Yowell said.

"On the average we may expect one February in 79 years to be without a new moon," Dr. Yowell explained. "A careful search through old almanacs reveals that in the year 1669 there was no new moon in February in any part of the world, not even in the small Pacific area."

Dr. Yowell explained the situation thus:

"Longitude is measured eastward or westward from Greenwich, for every 180 degrees or 12 hours, so no place on earth has a local time differing more than 12 hours from that of Greenwich."

"If the moon were new 12 hours or more before the beginning of February at Greenwich, as it was in 1869, it would occur in January for every place on the face of the earth."

"If it occurred at least 12 hours later than the end of February at Greenwich, as it did in 1869, it would occur in March for every earthly locality."

(International News Service)
KLANATH FALLS, Ore.—Lack of pants caused Klamath county Sheriff Lloyd Low to break a lifelong vow by appearing in public attired in a tux.

The sheriff and his wife accordingly to friends, were invited to a "business" party and Sheriff Low refused to break his usual practice of wearing a business suit for all occasions. His wife felt badly about it all, but didn't know what to do until...

"Hey!" yelled Sheriff Low on the afternoon of the party, "where are my pants?"

A search of the entire house failed to turn up even a single coat with pants to match.

So the sheriff wore a tuxedo which his wife "luckily" dug up.

1 teaspoon salt
No need to chill ingredients to get flaky crust with Spry. Sift flour and salt together. Add 1/2 of Spry and cut in until mixture is as fine as corn meal. (Takes only a jiffy with Triple-Creamed Spry.) Add remaining Spry and continue cutting until particles are size of coarse beads. Sprinkle water, 1 tablespoon at a time, over mixture. With a fork, work lightly together until a dough is formed.

RED CHERRY FILLING

4 cups canned, pitted red cherries
1/2 cup cherry juice
1/2 cup sugar (more, if desired)
2 tablespoons quick-cooking cornmeal
Combine cherries, juice, sugar, cornmeal and salt. Let stand while pie crust is being made. Roll 1/2 of dough and line a 9-inch pie plate. Fill pie shell with cherry mixture. Dot with butter. Moisten edge of pie with water.
Roll remaining dough for top crust and make decorative openings with small round cutter. Put top crust over cherries and seal edges of pie. Brush crust with a milk and egg wash. WASHINGTON
AT A GLANCEForeign Policy
Still PuzzlesWilson Parallel Is Drawn By Columnist Stewart In Studying QuestionBRYAN QUIT AS
WILSON TURNEDCentral Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Our foreign policy has been explained to the tune of thousands of words. But what do they mean? Scarcely any two recognized authorities are agreed on the answer to that question.

President Roosevelt and his various spokesmen express themselves voluminously enough, but when quizzers raise the point "How, please, is such-and-such an utterance to be interpreted?" the stock rejoinder, in effect, is, "Surely that ought to be clear to any normal intelligence. Well, if so, sub-normal intelligence must be to about a 99.9 per cent majority."

Oh, yes, we all know we have to have a powerful armament for "purely defensive" purposes. But who ever heard of a country which, getting into a war, admitted that it was getting in otherwise than defensively? Even Japan professes now, to be fighting defensively in China.

AS STEWART SEES IT

It may be argued that an under-armed people, by being so obviously easy to defeat, invites aggression. However, it is equally arguable that a heavily-armed people to say the least carries its chip rather lightly on its shoulder.

When the World War started the United States undoubtedly was under-armed—and President Wilson was as neutral in his declarations as any pacifist could have desired. But presently it struck him that we needed "preparedness" not to take us into the conflict, but to keep us out of it. So we got a medium of pacific preparedness—and shortly sent an army 3,000 miles away, across the Atlantic, to protect us against invasion.

BRYAN OPPOSED WILSON

When President Wilson began to develop his preparedness complex, Secretary of State William J. Bryan took alarm and resigned, because he could not head off the tendency. It surely foreshadowed American participation in the war, he reasoned. And so it did.

Today President Roosevelt takes the preparedness slant, and Secretary of State Cordell Hull stands by him.

Secretary Hull is as good a patriot and pacifist as Secretary Bryan was, but one may wonder if he should not have learned something from the history of the 19-teens.

Anyway, our current "foreign policy" talk is puzzling.

LABOR FEARS?

Labor sentiment is all which-was concerning the wage-hour program. Labor favors it but doesn't like it. The organized workers favor a minimum wage, indeed, but are afraid that the minimum will become a maximum—and that maximum hours will become a minimum. Also there is the fear that labor will be enslaved by enforced arbitration between employers and employees.

RECOVERY BEGINS?

And as to miscellaneous economic?

What caused the recession? Or is there a recession? Some accounts are that a recovery has begun to assert itself. Does recovery need to be encouraged? Or does an incipient boom need to be curbed?

And now we have farm legislation that defies analysis even by experts.

BargainState P. T. A. Head Gives Definition Of Education

In an absorbing address in the North Street school building Wednesday night, Mrs. Katherine H. Hall of Williamsport, Pa., president of the Pennsylvania Congress, Parents and Teachers Incorporated, gave the following definition of education:

"To be at home in all lands and ages; to have a familiar acquaintance with nature, and count art an intimate friend, to have a standard of appreciation of other men's work and a criticism of your own, to carry in your pocket the keys to the world's library and feel its resource behind you, to have hosts of friends among the men and women of your own age, who are leaders in all walks of life; to face yourself in generous enthusiasm to co-operate with others for common good, to have the manners of a gentleman and a personality as positive as the man of Galilee. That is to be educated."

Many interesting things about the P. T. A. state and national were brought to the attention of the listeners. Further excerpts from her address follow:

"The National Congress of P. T. A. was founded February 17, 1897, in Washington, D. C., by Alice McClellan Birney and Phoebe Apperson Hearst; mothers, ministers, lawyers, educators and friends of children met, not to lay taxes, make laws but to urge this group to make every effort to bring into closer relationship the home, school, church and community. In Mrs. Birney's first address, she made the following statement which laid hold on the heart and minds of all agencies working for the welfare of children: 'To cure was the voice of the past, but to prevent is the divine whisper of today!'

"The National Congress of P. T. A. is interested in education, it has purchased a book giving the history of the school, the title 'Our Public Schools' it should be read by every parent, because the Parent Teacher Association is an organized group of informed citizens as to the achievements, the aims and purposes of education and who interpret these to the public. They are not a group to work for the school, but to work with the school to make better schools for better boys and girls."

"The National Congress of Parents and Teachers were concerned that we were having so much crime among the youth they decided we must study the home life of our children and youth—realizing the fact that Theodore Roosevelt was right when he said 'The school is a valuable adjunct to the home but a wretched substitute for it.' They have published as a companion to the book Our Public Schools, the book, Our Homes, which should be read by every parent and teacher. The home must accept its responsibility in teaching its children, respect for parents, teachers, property and the rights of others. The school should teach children how to appreciate its community, its state and nation, for we are told, 'That wherever the French flag goes there goes a railroad, wherever the British flag goes there goes a merchant marine, wherever the Dutch flag, the Italian flag, the American flag, a school house—Why? We know that a democracy can not live without education; any more than the human body can live without bread.'

As a part of the evening's program the girl's chorus from the New Castle Senior High school, directed by Prof. Robert A. Duff, sang three numbers beautifully. They were, 'Country Garden,' 'Fairer Lord Jesus,' and 'Senorita.'

Earlier in the evening a dinner was served at a local tearoom, in the state president's honor. Guests included the public school heads and local P. T. A. officers.

Sullivan Loses Clemency Plea

Pardon Board Refuses To Act In Case Of Duquesne Policeman Slayer

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Feb. 18.—Pennsylvania's state board of pardons today recommended temporary reprieves for three condemned slayers, two of whom were to die in the electric chair Monday morning.

At the same time, the board turned down the clemency application of Martin Sullivan, Duquesne policeman who killed five persons in a shooting spree. He is to die Feb. 28.

three hours, the board recommended that Gov. George H. Earle postpone the execution dates of John G. Polens, and Joseph Sennauskas, Warren County, and Antonio Peronace, Northumberland County. The length of the reprieves was left up to the governor.

Polens and Sennauskas were scheduled to walk the "last mile" on Monday morning for the murder of Metro Semink, Youngville, janitor. It was the second time the board recommended stays of execution for the Warren County pair.

Peronace, who was sentenced to die for the murder of his wife and father-in-law, was to go to the electric chair on Feb. 28.

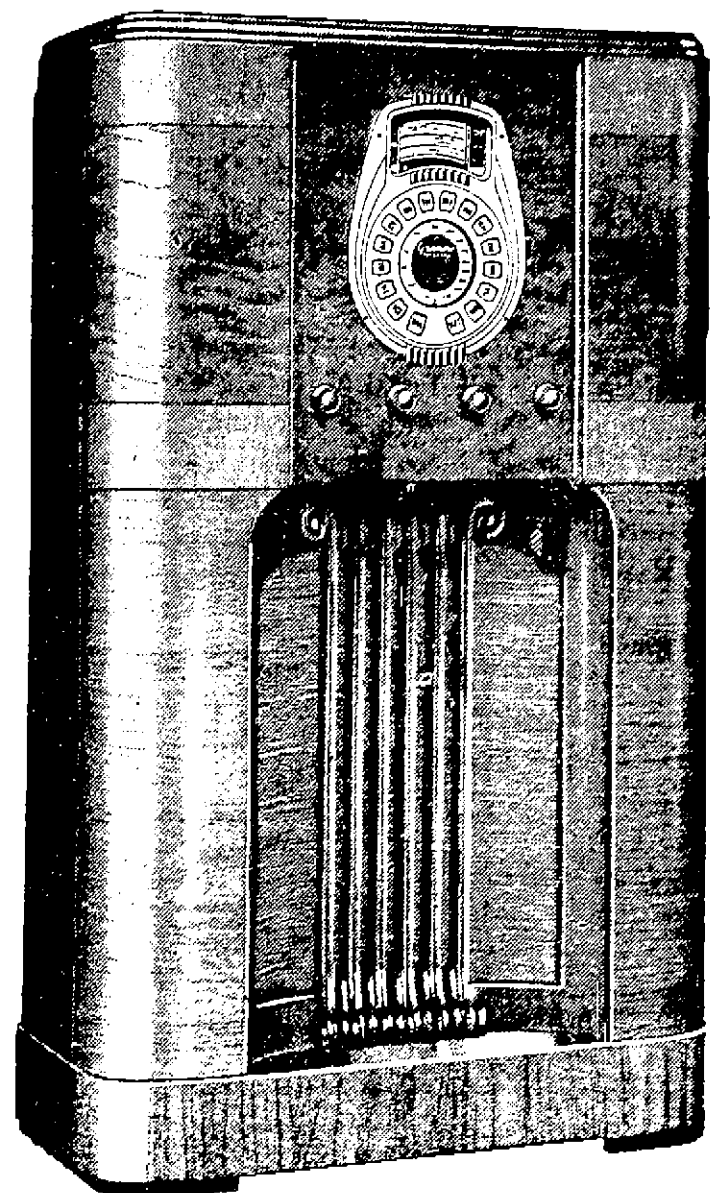

James A. Bowman will sing at the young people's meeting in the Salvation Army headquarters Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock. The leader for the program will be Gertrude Wansitter.

Finland Only Country Paying Debt As Agreed

Has Kept Integrity With United States, Congressman Hook Says

Finland, the only country which has not defaulted in its war debt payments to the United States, is one of our nations which helped to settle the original Thirteen Colonies. And in celebration of the 300th anniversary of the landing of Finns in this country, the local Finnish people are to gather in their Rar street church for a program Saturday night.

Several articles about the Finns in American Colonial History, taken from an address made in Congress by Representative Hook, have been printed in The News. The final article of the series follows.

Although the Swedes had control of this colony for but 16 years the population remained. For more than a hundred years there was a direct contrast between the Swedes and their church authorities in Sweden. These settlers—Swedes and Finns alike—retained their identity—linguistic, religious, cultural—but ultimately they merged with the blood stream of American nationality. Inter-marriage of Swedes and Finns and the anglicization of the language of both proceeded apace by the time the fathers of this country created a new nation on this continent.

"By that time a few descendants of the Delaware colonists had risen to positions sufficiently conspicuous to bring them into participation in the French and Indian and Revolutionary Wars as signers of the Declaration of Independence, and later as signers of the constitution of the United States. The majority lived the lives of hard-working pioneers, and made their contributions to the development of American institutions and ideals in that anonymous manner which ever characterizes the life and endeavors of the common man who was then, as he is today, the real foundation of all that we hold dear and worthwhile in this glorious country."

Representative Hook returns to the Finns and says a few words in tioners will be commemorated this year. It is my sincere hope that the Delaware Tercentenary, in which the Finns of Finland and our own citizens of Finnish antecedents will participate, will assume proportions commensurate with the importance of the seventeenth century founders of the colony.

"Let the tercentenary be celebrated in a manner that will clearly impress the American people with the fact that, according to history, the Finns were one of four nations that helped to settle the Original Thirteen States of the Union, the other three being the English, the Dutch and the Swedes."

Jones May Be Candidate For State Governor

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 18.—Charles Alvin Jones, Allegheny County solicitor, was the top-heavy favorite for slating as the organization candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket today.

This was learned as party leaders prepared to resume their deliberations in a final attempt to break a fractional deadlock which threatened to throw the party primary wide open.

Thus far, discussion on a candidate for governor centered about Jones, state treasurer P. Clair Ross and public utility commissioner Guy K. Bard, certain of the conferees revealed following a seven-hour conference here yesterday.

Moore Named As President

Lincoln-Garfield Association
Has Mid-Winter Session
Thursday Night

W. A. FRANCIS IS
CHIEF SPEAKER

John G. Moore was elected president of the Lincoln-Garfield Association Thursday night when the mid-winter reunion was held in the recreation hall on Grove street. With him was elected David T. Nelson as vice president. Edward J. Ryan is the permanent secretary and serves from year to year.

The reunion was the usual, successful affair it has been for many years. Old time Lincoln-Garfield students were back from a number of cities and from eight o'clock until about midnight the former school boys enjoyed themselves. Sixty eight were present.

W. A. Francis, Speaker

William A. Francis, himself a former Lincoln-Garfield student, was the principal speaker of the evening and took for his subject "Build New Castle." In it he told the men assembled that here in New Castle we have unlimited facilities for expansion, that we are located in the center of a huge trading area and have the transportation to get goods to market. It was an inspirational address that went over splendidly.

President William E. Trick, who stepped down from the office Thursday night presided over the meeting and asked for short talks from the following: William Pritchard, of Youngstown; Daniel Jenkins of Farrell; Ben Williams, of Farrell; Paul Donnelly of Sharon; William Williams, of Struthers; William Williams and Ollie Williams, of Toronto, O.; and the following New Castle men: William Glover, Dan Cunningham, Thomas Cunningham, Daniel Reebie, Councilman Joseph D. Alexander, William Houston.

Paul Donnelly of Sharon sang a number of songs and Jack Bruce presented a short period of entertainment.

LOCKLEY'S TEAM WINNER
Victory in an attendance contest among members of the Pro Loco club fell last night to a team captained by City Controller "Sid" Lockley. For several months the contest had been in progress. Members saw a film, "The Blind Spot of Science," as the program feature.

A belted full-length coat of beige wool with wide front panels of bronze seal brings life and color to these dull winter days.

DeRemer, met Thursday night at the home of Elson and Edward Sickles, Cherry street, and elected the following officers: President—June Wilson. Secretary—Bernice Butts. Treasurer—Jean King. Games were played and refreshments were served by the mother of the hosts, assisted by Mrs. Ernest Logan.

MRS. W. F. McCLURG

HOSTESS TO CLASS

Members of the W. W. U. class of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church were delightfully entertained Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. W. F. McClurg on Fourth street.

A short business period was held under the direction of Miss Jean Hamilton, president of the class. An informal program of entertainment was provided by the hostess for the hour.

A delicious luncheon was later served by Mrs. McClurg, aided by Miss Hamilton.

Next meeting will be on Thursday evening, March 17, in the home of Mrs. Eugene Walker on North Liberty street.

Skating Pond In Seventh Ward Has Entirely Vanished

All traces of the ice skating pond which was constructed on the Mahoning school athletic field, on Madison avenue, have completely vanished from sight.

In order to construct the pond the area to be flooded by water had to be surrounded with a small wall of earth and packed snow. When the snow melted, the wall washed away the earth wall and left no damage to the athletic field.

Ladies Gather At Eighth St. Home

Mrs. C. W. Thompson of Eighth street, entertained the Ladies Auxiliary to the Order of Railroad Conductors at her home on Thursday afternoon.

The time was passed informally. The hostess served a lovely luncheon, assisted by Mrs. J. M. Frew. In two weeks, on the third of March, the ladies will have a tureen dinner at the Legion home.

Church Supper Is Tonight In Ward

Tonight at 6:30 o'clock the annual dinner event for the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church will be held. The committees in charge announce that everything is now in readiness.

Preparations have been made to serve several hundred persons. This will be the first event in the church since the redecorating was completed.

M. E. G. AUXILIARY

Mrs. Raymond Fisher, of Fourth street, was a pleasing hostess Thursday evening, to members of the M. E. G. Auxiliary, when they gathered in her home for a meeting.

Salvation Army To Have Busy Week-End

The coming week end will be crowded with activities at the local Salvation Army Corps. Tonight the new Y. P. band will meet at the hall, 133 Water street, for practice. This is an up and coming musical organization that hopes in the near future to be able to spread cheer and the gospel message by means of their musical talent. It is under the direction of Capt. Schofield. The captain says there is a need for musical instruments for this group and feels that some families may have some discarded musical instruments they would be willing to donate to the cause. If such is the case, he would appreciate such parties calling 1882 or at the Salvation Army.

On Saturday morning the boys' club will meet. This club has recently been formed for the purpose of keeping the young boys off the streets. Sports and games as well as a religious program feature the Y. P. Legion will meet. This group, dren.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

PRUNE APPLE TREES TO GET STRONG STRUCTURE

Proper pruning treatment or "training" of the young apple tree offers a number of perplexing problems which must absorb the attention of Lawrence County growers within the next two months.

Inspection of young apple orchards throughout the County reveals that widely different methods of pruning are still in use, though there is an increasing tendency to train young apple trees to the leader type of framework. This is a distinct advantage over the older practice of work. The advantage of the leader tree lies in its superior strength of framework. The main, if not the only, advantage to be derived from any system of pruning young apple trees is in avoiding weak structures. From the standpoint of fruit production alone, the most profitable method of pruning during the early years of the tree's life would be one of neglect, with the possible exception of a pruning at planting time. Practical experience and experimental evidence leads to the conclusion that heavier production may be obtained without pruning than with any degree or manner of pruning yet devised.

comes with elimination of weak crotches. Narrow crotches are always weak, and elimination of one of the two branches is the only practical solution to this problem. If the main trunk of the tree divides into two or more equal branches, the framework will be relatively weak at this point even though the crotch or crotches may have a comparatively wide angle. This is an inherent weakness of the open center tree. In the leader tree such a condition must be corrected by either elimination of one branch or by pruning the branches with unequal severity which will result in the unpruned branch developing to a relatively larger size.

It is important that the tree be so pruned that the leader will be on the windward side. Variation from this practice in windy locations will result in failure to develop a leader tree.

With young trees, often the grower places too much emphasis on thinning and not enough on structure. The tree need not be thinned so extensively that even the small branches cross the rub sufficiently to make a serious wound in the bark, it is usually advisable to remove one of the interfering members. However, the structure is the important goal and heavy thinning on young trees is worse than useless.

REMODELED KITCHENS THRILL HOMEOWNERS

"I never fail to get a thrill when I walk into my new pantry," says a Pennsylvania homemaker. "I pruned, I am in a post office sorting mail when I put my dishes away." Remodeling the kitchen has made this possible.

Kitchen improvements in many Lawrence County homes have received much attention. Sometimes a rearrangement of the working units without any expenditure of money has made the kitchen more convenient. This many steps are saved in meal preparation.

Many women of the County have found the better "Home Made Equipment" full of suggestions for inexpensive labor saving devices.

Those who were interested in remodeling found the bulletin "Convenient Kitchens Make Housework Efficient" helpful.

Both the bulletin and the bulletin may be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Office, No. 206 Post Office Bldg., New Castle.

EGGS AND CHEESE HELP TO STRETCH FOOD DOLLAR

For the past year housewives have been busy trying to buy economical meats and use meat substitutes to lower food costs, says Miss Mary Voelke home economics extension representative for Lawrence County. At this time of year with the approaching Lenten season, women are eager to learn new ways to prepare satisfying foods for meatless days.

Milk, eggs, cheese, fish and dried beans and peas are perhaps the best nutritional meat substitutes. All these, with the exception of dried legumes, may be successfully to repair body tissues, muscles, and also to support growth.

Vegetable Peanut Butter Loaf makes an excellent addition to family meals for meatless days. Baked Custard would be a suitable dessert. This supplying necessary building and regaining protein. Such a dessert would be an efficient use of our fuel.

Vegetable Peanut Butter Loaf
2 cups cooked lima beans
2 cups meat of carrots
1 cup dry bread crumbs
1 cup peanut butter
2 tablespoons fat
1 teaspoon chopped onion
1 tablespoon grated parsley
1 teaspoon celery salt
1 egg
Salt and pepper to taste.
Add melted fat to peanut butter, add milk to slightly beaten egg, combine peanut butter and egg mixtures, add the seasoning. Mix carrots, bread crumbs and mashed lima beans together. Combine the peanut butter egg mixture mix thoroughly and bake in a mod rate oven until firm and brown.

An excellent sauce for the above loaf is canned tomato soup.

More Lawrence Co. Residents Invade Southern Domain

Influx of local visitors in the southland during the past week has kept The News winter tourist reporter down in St. Petersburg, Florida. James P. Caldwell, quite busy, He writes of the recent arrivals and incidentally mentions that this is the height of the tourist season, among many other interesting reports.

The letter follows:
St. Petersburg, Fla.
Feb. 14, '35.
Mr. George W. Conway,
City Editor News,
New Castle, Pa.
Dear George:

This is the height of the tourist season in Florida. During the past ten days visitors have been swarming in like grasshoppers in a Kansas wheatfield. Registrations passed the 50,000 mark today which is around 5,000 more than at the same time last year.

Among the latest New Castle visitors are Alderman and Mrs. O. H. P. Green. They are accompanied by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. VanVoorhis of Canton, O.

There was some consternation in the ranks of the deep sea fish when they learned the Alderman was in town, but their fears are groundless as he will confine his fishing to the inland bays. He was scouting Saturday for the best territory, and when he casts his line this week, the fish may as well come out and surrender.

Alderman Green and party will remain here about ten days, when they will go to Sarasota where they expect to spend some time at the Ringling art gallery. From there they will go to Miami and then up the East coast, stopping off at various points enroute.

L. B. Round Arrives
Learned this forenoon that L. B. Round, superintendent of the Pennsylvania Power Company, has arrived in town. Have not found him yet, so don't know who is with him. Understand he has invented some kind of an electric attachment for a fish-hook that will do away with the bait, and came here to try it out. If it works there ought to be millions in it. Will check up and report later.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Wallace, came in from New Castle last week. They are making a tour of the state and only remained a few days. From here they went to Miami.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Papenhause, are other recent arrivals from New Castle. They have been busy visiting all the points of interest in this vicinity, and will continue southward in a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Lamb of New Wilmington, are at Treasure Island. This island is twelve miles west of here on the Gulf of Mexico. It is noted for its bathing beach. This seems to be the principal lure, as I haven't heard of anybody finding any private gold.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Butler of the North Hill, who formerly operated the restaurant in Ave's market on North Mill street, have been here for some time. They left New Castle for Altoona to look after a relative who was ill. The relative died, and they came down here afterwards on a vacation. They expect to return to New Castle after the relative's estate is settled up.

Two Native Sons

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Rhodes, of Piedmont, West Virginia, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rhodes of Berlin, Maryland, are here for a couple of weeks. Cyrus and Paul are New Castle boys, sons of Mrs. S. J. Rhodes of Highland avenue. Cyrus has been superintendent of the schools at Piedmont for a number of years, but declined re-election last fall, in order that he might devote his time to other interests, and come to Florida in the winter. Until recently Paul has been a merchant at Berlin, Md., but has disposed of his store and is now looking after other business interests. They have been down the East coast to Miami, and are on their way back up the West coast.

Andy Reider, of Reider Bros., New Castle hardware merchants, is at Lakeland, but writes that he will be in St. Petersburg this week.

Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Putton of Millwood City, are also here for a short stay, while touring the state.

E. L. Smith and wife, who resided on Wallace avenue for over 30 years, but who moved to Philadelphia after Mr. Smith retired from the railroad business and who have been wintering here, had to go home this week on account of a tenant moving out of their house. They are going to re-rent the house and then make a trip to California.

Couldn't Clean Fish

William D. West, of McCaslin, who was planning a deep sea fishing trip when I last wrote, is back alive. He and several others brought in over 500 pounds of fish. Bill shoved his share home in a wheelbarrow, but when it came to preparing a big twenty pounder for the table, Bill was at sea again, as he had always depended on his father, Thomas D. West to clean the fish.

However, being an automobile mechanic, he figured, that the proper thing to do was to remove some of the parts. So he got out his tool kit and proceeded to explore the fish, taking out the carburetor and a few feed lines, but with such indifferent success that he finally sliced off some meaty sections and threw them in the skillet.

His experience convinced him that fish cleaning is an art, and a very necessary part of a practical education. Being president of the Scott township school board, he may introduce a resolution to amend the curriculum at the spring meeting of the board.

Again In Limelight

Llewellyn Preston, New Castle's silver tongued tenor, made the spotlight again last week when he won the sweepstakes prize in a free-for-all singing contest at a Welsh society meeting held at the million dollar municipal pier. Strange to say, the first man to congratulate him was Daniel Jones of Pittsburgh, president of the society, who had been a boyhood playmate of Preston.

It was the first time they had met in fifty years. I might add that I met Preston this morning with a brand new bathing suit under his arm and headed for the beach. W. B. Caldwell, also with a new bathing suit was with him, so I reckon there'll be a big splash.

And speaking of swimming reminds me that the other day I drove our party out to Clearwater beach on the Gulf to see what I could see. This is one of the finest of the numerous bathing beaches. From Clearwater it is reached by a drive over a bridge and an earth causeway across a bay, the causeway being about a mile long. It has two drives, with a center section like Laurel Boulevard in New Castle, but not as wide. The center is about ten feet, and is a veritable flower garden the whole way. Petunias predominate.

We found about 1000 bathers on the beach. The sand is snow white and glistening like diamonds under the blazing sun. We put on smoked glasses but could still get an eyeful. Bathers are out to get their hides tanned. The men wear trunks, and the ladies trunkies, the latest creation of our friend, Annette Kellerman. Bathing suits of the ladies differ from those of the men only by a little flap on the upper section of the front, held up by a shoestring around the neck.

Look Like Indians

The bathers reveal all degrees of tan from plain sunburn to chocolate brown, depending upon how long they have been wallowing around in the sand. Most of them seem to prefer the sand to the water, pupils no doubt of that motherly old lady who told her daughter to hang her clothes on a hickory limb, but not go near the water. The men seem to tan easier than the girls, possibly because the latter are used to the heat of the kitchen. However I saw one maiden who reminded me of the pictures of the late lamented and lovely Pina Toronias, whom you may remember, had an affair with Captain John Smith. In case you have forgotten the fascinating story, look up your Shakespeare.

I haven't done any salt water bathing yet, but am getting the itch. It looks a lot more exciting than the old slope wall on the Slippery Rock at Harlansburg, where I used to slide in and go covered with mud getting out. I may not be as supple as I was in those days, but you couldn't down me in the Gulf of Mexico, so much for the "ole swimmin' hole".

Listen To Mocking Birds

The mocking birds are beginning to put on their spring chorus. They have been pretty quiet until recently, but it is getting around toward the mating season, and the girls are drolling up at the beauty parlors. The mocking bird is about the size of our catbird, and the same color, except for a little white on their wings and tails. They are cousins of our catbird, but seem to have enjoyed much better musical advantages.

Their bewitching songs and girlish figures are even a confirmed bachelor bird to resist. I imagine the catbirds will be about as successful in resisting feminine charms as Richard Rent's co-conspirators. The mocking birds here are comparable to our robins in the north, but of course they have it all over our robins in their repertoire. And by the way, I haven't seen a robin here this winter. They do not seem to come this far south. I understand they winter in the Carolinas and Georgia, thus saving considerable gas.

The birds seen here and with which we are familiar in the north are bluejays, blackbirds, wrens, wild canaries, red-headed woodpeckers, starlings, doves and a few others. Of course there are a lot of tropical birds that don't seem to know anything about the good picking up north.

A Pastor's Paradise

It would gladden the hearts of New Castle pastors if they could get the audiences they do here. In some of the churches as many as five sermons are preached on a Sunday. It is necessary to go an hour or more before a service in order to get a seat in the main auditorium. Galleries and basements are filled with microphone connections to the latter.

When it is considered that there are 58 churches in St. Petersburg, the attendance is indicative of the devouring thirst of tourists to get something free. There are all brands of religion from the old time Methodist and Presbyterian to Jehovah's Witnesses. Methodists lead with 13 churches; Baptists, 9; Presbyterian, 6; Spiritualists, 5; Christian, 4; Catholic, 3; Lutheran, 2; Episcopal, 2; and fourteen other denominations with one church each. For a city with around 50,000 permanent population this is going some. Most of them are fine brick edifices. The First Methodist church has a set of wonderful chimes, that play at 6 o'clock every evening.

Bumper Citrus Crop

Florida has a bumper citrus crop this year. It is estimated to exceed 32,000,000 boxes. Of this there will be all of 11,000,000 boxes of grapefruit and 21,000,000 of oranges and tangerines.

A present there are 28,699 citrus groves in Florida, and 13,355,512 trees in bearing; 2,676,338, not in bearing. These are official figures compiled by the Fruit Growers Association.

Great train loads go out of the state every day to northern markets, while there are big earning factories which take care of the surplus, making jellies, marmalades, and canning juice.

The government has been a heavy purchaser of relief distribution. There is a surprisingly large amount of money spent in the south in all kinds of projects.

Fore Anon as they say in Clifton

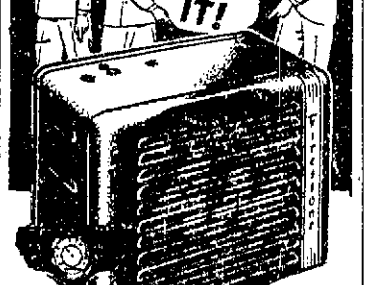

J. P. CALDWELL.

TO BUILD MANHOLE

City Engineer Glenn R. Throop today stated excavation is under way in North Mercer street, north of Wallace avenue, where the sanitary sewer is congested. He said a new manhole will be built there. The work is being done by city employees.

Cats Are Held Bad As Weasles

Judge Ladner, Game Conservator, Would Have
Stray Felines Shot
On Sight
SAYS ANIMALS
HAVE NO RIGHTS

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18.—The stray cat problem has again assumed major proportions here with alternate suggestions of two prominent sportsmen that "alley rabbits" be shot and all cats licensed. Maj. Nicholas Budd, state game commission chairman, aroused the ire of cat lovers with his suggestion that cat-owners be made to purchase licenses for their pets. Then, Biddle suggested, it would be easy to destroy the remaining predatory felines responsible for large destruction of bird life in Pennsylvania.

But Judge Grover C. Ladner, game conservator, rejected Biddle's tentative plan as too mild. He urged hunters who came across stray felines to "shoot on sight," arguing that cats, unlike dogs, have no legal standing.

Ladner continued: "Cats are the most vicious killers we know. They are in a class with the weasel, which is hunted down as vermin. Sportsmen should be encouraged to kill all stray cats."

In offering his cat-licensing proposal, Biddle pointed out he was not "at all committed" to the system. But, he remarked, "owners who think enough of their cats to pay a license fee might also think enough of them to see that they are kept at home out of danger of mischief."

He estimated that of 120,000,000 cats in the United States, about 65 per cent are strays. And he declared, the 1,000,000 felines in Pennsylvania are responsible annually for the slaughter of 3,000,000 birds in the state.

Date Is Set For Referenda

Secretary Wallace Announces
Referenda Among Cotton
And Tobacco Farmers

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Under the provisions of the new A.A.A., Secretary Wallace today announced referenda will be held on March 12 among cotton and tobacco farmers. The outcome of the votes will determine whether marketing quotas will be applied to these commodities for the current year. A two-thirds vote for the quotas make them operative.

The new act stipulates the secretary may offer marketing quotas but that they cannot be put into effect until the farmers' vote has approved them.

Where cotton, flue-cured or dark tobacco are grown in the same locality, the referendum will be held generally, but the votes on each commodity will be individual.

Graduating Class Sponsors Movie

Dance Also Added Attraction
In Program To Raise Commencement Expenses

Graduating class of New Castle high school is sponsoring the movie production, "Nine Days a Queen," at the Cathedral theatre on February 24 and 25. Proceeds of this production will be used to help defray the Commencement expenses of the class.

"Nine Days a Queen" which features Nova Pilbeam and Cedric Hardwicke, has been endorsed by the National Education Association as being not only a dramatic success but one of exceptional historical value.

Following the show on Thursday, February 24, a dance will be given in the Crystal ballroom, with music by a popular civic orchestra. Those attending the theatre Thursday evening will be admitted to the dance free of charge.

Since expenses of graduation are always high, the Senior class asks (the co-operation and attendance of everyone in this endeavor.

Life Of Infant Believed Saved

Mother Dies Of Severe Burns Shortly After Infant Is Born

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 18.—Through the magic of surgery, an infant boy was alive in an incubator today after being brought into the world a month prematurely by surgeons operating on his mother as she lay dying of burns. The mother, Mrs. Anna Haus, 25, of Conemaugh, died shortly after physicians saved the life of the baby.

Mrs. Haus suffered burns over her entire body when wax in a milk bottle she was leaning on a stove in her home exploded and ignited her clothing. She ran screaming from the house and a neighbor threw a heavy peach rug around her, smothering the fire which had burned away her clothing.

Operate At Once

A physician was called by neighbors and he ordered the woman taken to the Sewickley Valley hospital. There, after a consultation, physicians decided to operate.

Using the smallest possible amount of anesthetic, the surgeon worked speedily over the unconscious woman. Soon a healthy baby boy, "normal in all respects," according to the hospital, was born. The child was placed in an incubator.

The husband, William Haus, was at work when the tragedy occurred. Through a twist of fate, Mrs. Haus was taken to the hospital where she had been a former employee.

Prophetic Message Is Given Thursday

Return Of Christ Imminent, First Pentecostal Evangelist Believes

In another spirited prophetic message last night in the First Pentecostal church, Evangelist Tubby said: "It has been said that history repeats itself. This is not just a theory, it is a fact and has the sanction of Christ for He declares in Luke 17:26, 'As it was in the days of Noah, so shall it be also in the days of the Son of man.'

"It is a matter of very great interest that practically every element of Noah's times, is now prevailing in the world. This argues very forcibly in favor of the belief that the return of the Christ is imminent."

Tonight another divine healing mass meeting will be conducted in the church.

PAINS IN MUSCLES AND JOINTS NOW GONE, HE THANKS VENDOL

Tin Mill Employee Had Hard Time Getting To Sleep At Night On Account Of Pains. Vendol Acted As A Mild Diuretic To Kidneys, Is Now Feeling As Well As Ever.

MR. ALEX KUEIK

Mr. Alex Kueik of 1814 Moravia St., New Castle, employed at the New Castle Tin Mill, says: "I suffered terribly with rheumatic-like pains in my ankles and knees and across my back, which sometimes got so bad I could hardly walk. At night these pains often kept me awake and I would get up in the morning feeling tired and listless, with a coated tongue and bad taste. Constipation and weak kidneys were to blame for my condition."

"I read where many well known people all over the State were praising Vendol for the wonderful relief it brought, so I began taking it, and the little Vendol laxative tablets, and that was the best thing I ever did. It relieved my constipation and acted as a mild diuretic to my kidneys, then my aches and pains just passed off. My sleep is sound and restful, skin is a good color, headaches and dizzy spells are all gone. I get up with a clear head, clean tongue and am able to do my work. Thanks to Vendol, I feel as well as ever, so wish to recommend this fine medicine to others."

All druggists sell Vendol and it is highly recommended here by New Castle Drug Co. at 35 E. Washington St. and 24 N. Mill St. Schweitzer's Pharmacy and Ellwood Cut Rate in Ellwood City and Weaver's Cut Rate in New Wilmington.

Finnish People Will Celebrate Saturday Night

Program Planned In Observance Of Tercentenary Of Arrival In U. S. A.

MAYOR McGRATH
WILL BE SPEAKER

Event Will Open At 8 P. M.
In Finnish Lutheran Church, South Ray
Street

Local citizens of Finnish descent will have a celebration in their church on South Ray street Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in commemoration of the 300th anniversary of the landing of Finns on the shores of America.

This festival occasion promises to be of extraordinary interest and it is thought that a large throng of people will attend. Those in charge have to say that the event is for people of all nationalities. It is their earnest desire that the public at large participate. The bulk of the program will be in the English language.

Mayor Charles McGrath will deliver the main address of the evening. Rev. E. W. Lehto, pastor of the Finnish Lutheran church, will speak in Finnish. Among the musical numbers may be mentioned the contributions of two of the foremost Finnish musicians of New Castle, Miss Toim Elzabeth Koski, studying at the Oberlin Conservatory of Music, will play Finlandia, her opening piano selection. Arvo Aho, studying at present in Pittsburgh, will favor the audience with three violin solos. The church choir will sing selected numbers. Lunch will be served at the close of the program.

Of public interest to Pennsylvanians is the fact that a monument commemorating the landing of Finns in this country is to be erected next June at Chester, Pa., the site of the Finnish settlement named Finland. The monument, a gift of the Finnish government, is being carved from native Finnish granite by one of the foremost rock-cutters of Finland. The monument will be sent from Finland to arrive a time to be transferred to Chester, Pa., before the festivities take place. Finland will also send official delegates to represent their Republic at the commemorative exercises in the spring. It is the plan of the Finns of America to make the celebration worthy of the efforts of the early pioneers.

AROUND CITY HALL

Spring is pushing winter into the past according to City Registrar Owen Penfield Fox who stated today that he heard and saw his first song sparrow of the season yesterday. Fox also reported that lilacs and pussy-willows are out. The groundhogs have not returned to their den since they made their appearance on Groundhog day, the forester stated. The song sparrow was heard at Gaston park. It is there that Fox has a small menagerie which in good weather is visited by many persons interested in wild life.

Contagion here showed an increase yesterday. Fourteen new cases were reported to the city health bureau. However, among the health bureau cases, only one case of scarlet fever, 14 was only one case of scarlet fever.

Choosing Companions In Service

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Mark 3:35—"For whosoever will do the will of God, the same is my brother."

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Feb. 20, Mark 3:7-19; 31-35, the Golden Text, being Mark 3:35. "For whosoever will do the will of God, the same is my brother.")

The new shadow of the cross falls clearly across the path of Jesus in the midst of his popular ministry in Galilee as his enemies, the Pharisees, confer with the Herodians on "how they might destroy him." From this opposition "Jesus with his disciples withdrew to the sea; and a great multitude from Galilee followed."

Jesus' Popularity

Great throngs of people gathered about him from every direction, from Judea and Idumea to the south, from beyond Jordan to the north, from Galilee to the north, and even from Tyre and Sidon to the west.

They "came unto him." He even had to take precaution of having his disciples arrange "that a little boat should wait on him because of the crowd, lest they should throng him."

For he healed many; inasmuch that as many as had places pressed upon him that they might touch him.

Choosing the Twelve

In the increasing popularity of Jesus to choose from his followers an inner circle whom he designated "apostles," who might carry on his work after his enemies should succeed in crucifying him. Luke tells us that this choice of the twelve was preceded by an entire night of prayer. "He went out into the mountains to pray; and he continued all night in prayer to God; and when it was day he called his disciples; and he chose from them twelve, whom he also named apostles."

Mark adds the significant note which indicates our Lord's purpose in this appointment, viz., "He appointed twelve that they might send them forth." This order of events is vitally important. Jesus communed with God in prayer through the night; then he came to men and made his choice from them. For those he chooses he prescribed the same order. They are first to "be with him" before he "might send them forth." Communion must precede conquest; fellowship must precede fruitfulness and experience precede the way for expression. Christ's order is always, "Come and see," then, "Go and tell." We defeat ourselves when we set out upon his work without first equipping ourselves for it by communion.

His companions in service must first be companions before they can be servants.

The Making of the Twelve

When Jesus chose the twelve he challenged them to high achievement with the promise, "Follow me and I will make you to become." And he truly made them to become.

All they did became well known through the ages. He found them poor, he made them rich; he found them ordinary men; he made them extraordinary.

Kinship With Jesus

So zealously did Jesus give himself to his passion to bless humanity through his teaching and healing ministry that his own family said, "He is beside himself." And they came to restrain his enthusiasm and take him home with them. When Jesus learned of their presence and purpose he said, "Who is my mother and my brethren?" We emphasize the ties of blood by saying, "Blood is thicker than water." But Jesus puts the ties of faith above those of blood, as, pointing to his disciples he said, "Behold my mother and brethren! For whosoever shall do the will of God, the same is my brother, and sisters and mother."

LET'S TALK FACTS ...AND FIGURES!

NO OTHER CAR IN THE WORLD HAS ALL THESE FEATURES

★ NEW DYNAFLASH VALVE-IN-HEAD STRAIGHT-8 ENGINE ★ NEW TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING ★ TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE IN SEALED CHASSIS ★ NEW QUIET ZONE BODY MOUNTING ★ ANGLE PISTONS ★ AEROBAT CARBURETOR ★ NEW BULL'S-EYE STEERING ★ TIPTOE HYDRAULIC BRAKES ★ KNEE-ACTION FRONT SPRINGING ★ UNIMETAL BODY BY FISHER ★ BUILT-IN DEFROSTER CONNECTIONS ★ AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION OPTIONAL ON SERIES 40
BETTER BUY BUICK ON EASY GENERAL MOTORS TERMS

WEIGH the new cars dispassionately in the light of what they offer and the facts stand boldly forth as these:

Buick is the ONLY car on the market today offering the efficiency of valve-in-head straight-eight design—modernized with the phenomenally efficient new DYNAFLASH principle of combustion.

Buick is the only car your money can buy with the marvel-ride of TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING—springs of stout, shock-smothering coiled steel that lessen skid-risks, lengthen tire life, actually make the whole car more directable.

Buick is the only car with the safety-security of Unimetal Body by Fisher—plus the blessed quiet and peace of Silent Zone Body Mounting.

Buick is admittedly the best looking car on the market—chosen as such by popular vote with a greater margin over its nearest competitor than any other car enjoys!

Buick's performance is easily the most outstanding on the road—for soaring, thrilling lift and power it duffs its hat to no other car even approaching it in size and comfort.

Such are the facts, and on them you can well decide, "Better buy Buick!"

But they do not end the tale. There are two points dealing with figures still needed to complete the full picture of Buick value:

— Buick is not only the lowest-priced straight-eight of its size on the market

— But Buick actually lists at lower figures than do some sixes!

Check the facts, check the figures. We know where you'll find yourself in the end.

In a Buick dealer's show room getting the dope on his easy terms!

Entrance Tests Being Abandoned

Opinion Of High School Principal To Be Entrance Requirement At Westminster

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 18.—A high school principal's opinion of a graduating student is worth more than the freeman college entrance examinations. That is the conclusion of the committee on entrance of Westminster College, who are abandoning entrance tests and accepting recommendations from principals for students in the lower two-fifths of their high school graduating classes.

Although the majority of Westminster students come from the upper three-fifths of their high school classes, the lower two-fifths in the past have had to pass a series of examinations on English and general intelligence. The shift in policy indicates the belief that a principal knows more of a student in four years than tests reveal upon college entrance.

At present, Westminster's entrance requirements, according to a survey, are higher than 65 per cent of colleges in this section of the United States.

Mother Creates Scene In Court At Murder Trial

Judge W. Walter Braham Halts Court At Erie, Defendant Apologizes For Outburst

SON ON TRIAL IN KILLING OF FATHER

ERIE, Pa., Feb. 18.—(AP)—The former Pittsburgh policeman charged with the murder of his father, Detective Louis Sealise, was expected to take the stand today in his own defense and relate his version of the killing.

During the trial yesterday Sealise's mother screamed hysterically her son was innocent.

"I'll kill myself," she screamed. "Take me to the electric chair with him," she sobbed, after she had risen from the front row of seats in the court room and screamed: "He's innocent."

Prisoner Overcome

Overcome by his mother's sudden outburst, Ralph was led from the court room and the court called a recess.

Sealise stopped a moment before Judge W. Walter Braham as he left the court room.

"I want to apologize," he said. "You don't know how that woman has suffered."

Earlier in the day an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation testified three of the bullets recovered at the scene of the shooting had been fired from the late detective's service revolver.

The shooting was said by police to have resulted from an argument between Sealise and his father when the latter threatened to make him leave home last December 30.

MANN'S SON SAYS GERMANS ERRED IN GAUGING NAZIS

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—The great mistake and most tragic error of democratic Germans was not to take the Nazis seriously enough, according to Klaus Mann, son of Thomas Mann, Nobel prize winning author.

Klaus Mann, like his father and sister an exile from Germany, declared:

"I hope the world, and particularly the democracies, will not repeat our mistake."

"There are," Mann said, "two Germanies: one, a part of Europe, belongs to the world, another, nationalistic, shut off by herself, selfish, aggrandized, a Germany that hates the rest of Europe."

Dr. John Q. Stewart Sees Total Eclipse For More Than Seven Full Minutes

You remember good-natured Mahomet who went to the mountain when the mountain refused to come to him?

Modern science is doing much the same thing about eclipses. When they don't display themselves properly to the scientists, the scientists sneak up on 'em in mid-ocean.

And who should have started it all but Dr. John Q. Stewart, distinguished Princeton university astronomer who is almost a native New Castle man. In his boyhood he passed several months each summer in this city, the guest of his aunt, Mrs. Edwin Crawford, of Wallace avenue, and his uncle, J. Cam Lieber, of the city.

Dr. Stewart has a world-wide reputation in the field of scientific research and when he set out for the Hawaiian Islands last summer some time before the total eclipse of June was due, accompanied by James Stokely of Franklin Institute and Cook Observatory, Philadelphia, with the intention of studying the eclipse on the return journey from a ship in the path of its shadow in the middle of the Pacific, the project attracted considerable attention.

The incidents of the story occurred several months ago but little known details of it are told in the January U. S. Steel News, and summed up as follows in a New York Sun editorial:

Inquiries revealed that the steamship Steamer would be sailing from the Hawaiian Islands for Brooklyn just about in time to meet the path of the eclipse. Knowing that a freight vessel does not adjust its sailing dates and course in accord with the wishes of passengers, but must abide by winds and weather and consider its cargo, the astronomers were willing to gamble. Their prize if they won would be an experience enviable to other eclipse observers, satisfying to themselves and fruitful to science.

On their voyage from Honolulu they made preparations for the days when the boat would enter the path of the eclipse and then follow it for the duration of the phenomenon.

The interesting details of the story, from a layman's viewpoint, are those relating to the preparations. Captain Earl D. Lucas of the freighter assumed responsibility for plotting the course of the ship on which the success of all observations would depend. The ship's carpenter built a reclining chair for Dr. Stewart. Other seamen stretched over hatchways sheets on which "shadow bands" caused by the eclipse might be reflected. The First Officer sat in the cross-stress on the foremast to make notes on visible stars. The Second and Third Officers computed the height of the layer of haze on which was projected the silhouette of the moon. Other members of the crew likewise strove in various ways in the cause

Cost Estimates For New Ships Much Too High

President Expresses Serious Concern Over Plight Of Merchant Marine

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—President Roosevelt expressed serious concern over the plight of the American merchant marine today, and agreed with his retiring maritime commission chairman, Joseph P. Kennedy, that current construction cost estimates of American ships were far too high.

Mr. Roosevelt voiced his merchant marine worries simultaneously with White House announcement of Kennedy's resignation to take over the post of United States ambassador to Great Britain.

This formality was accomplished in an exchange of letters between the president and Kennedy in which the maritime commission chairman regrettably told his White House chief that "strenuous measures" are necessary to preserve an adequate merchant marine.

Costs Much Lower.

At his regular press conference, the president pointed out: recent bids for shipbuilding offered the maritime commission were above wartime price figures, although basic costs of building were much lower.

Mr. Roosevelt could offer no solution to the shipbuilding problem, and outlined as too slow three proposed methods. These included the financing of new shipyard building, private interests operating them on a fixed fee basis; construction of new government yards to build the merchant ships, and addition of new equipment to existing navy yards.

Recent talks with congressional leaders said the president, elicited advice that construction of American merchant vessels in foreign shipyards offered a theoretical solution of the high prices, but these he said, were coupled with associations that the members did not dare vote for such a program.

MAY PERMIT ZOO VISITORS TO FONDLE LIONS

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA.—Philadelphia will be able actually to touch and handle baby lions, zebras and other denizens of the wild "in season," if plans of Zoological officials materialize.

Authorities plan to build an enclosure containing 5,000 square feet in an open part of the enclosure animal and human may mingle as will, according to Roger Conant, Zoo publicity manager.

The "zoolet"—said to be the first of its kind in America—is scheduled to open May 1 and will house only infant animals.

The animals will differ with the season. We plan to include also fawns, baby tortoises, lambs, monkeys, parrots, alligators and guinea pigs," Conant announced.

Mr. Roosevelt voiced his merchant

Arrest Youth After Chase

Police Report Young Man Had Coats Taken From The Castleton

INVESTIGATION IS BEING CONDUCTED

Acting Sergeant of Police Wayne Shines last night arrested a young man who gave the name of William Nygard, of Franklin avenue, on suspicion of having taken three overcoats, two short coats and other articles from The Castleton.

The arrest was made in Sycamore Way between Diamond Way and North Beaver street. Nygard resisted the officer, he reported, but was quickly overcome. Nygard is being questioned concerning other robberies and attempted robberies here, police say.

According to Shines' report to Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell, he was watching for possible burglars at 7:20 p. m. in the North Mill street district, and walked into Apple Way. While there he found a brown overcoat hidden behind rubbish.

While investigating he heard someone walking along near Sycamore

Way and investigated. He saw a man wearing an overcoat and carrying another.

Shines trailed the man through Sycamore Way to Orchard Way, where he ordered him to halt. The latter ran. Shines fired a bullet in the air. The man continued to run with Shines in pursuit.

Near Sycamore and Diamond Way Shines fired another shot in the air to stop the man, who fled to a dark path between two houses near North Beaver street and Diamond Way.

When Shines approached the fugitive, who said he was Nygard, the latter was alleged to have taken a punch at Shines who quickly subdued him and sent him to police headquarters.

Attaches of The Castleton looked at Nygard and said he had been in the locker room at the hotel. The overcoats which had been thrown away during the man's flight, were identified as belonging to guests at The Castleton. Likewise, keys and auto owner's cards, which were said to have been found on Nygard's person.

Nygart was quizzed by Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell and other officers in an effort to learn if he was connected with other robberies and attempted robberies here. Shines only did he deny the theft of the clothing from The Castleton, but denied having been implicated in other thefts recently staged here.

CARRIER CHIEF IS ILL

Peter P. Stevenson, foreman of carriers at the post office here, is ill at his West Washington street extension home. He has been confined for a week.

Thomas May Get Bout With Louis

Harry Thomas Must Defeat Jimmy Adamick Tonight In New York Garden

If Adamick Wins He Will Not Be Matched With Louis Yet, Is Report

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—From a source close to the fight box today we learn that promoter Mike Jacobs will stage a fight between Harry Thomas and Joe Louis in Chicago in April, provided Thomas beats Jimmy Adamick in Madison Square Garden tonight.

But, should Adamick beat Thomas, Adamick will not get the shot at Louis, probably on the grounds that if Adamick is that good, he deserves a build-up through other lucrative bouts before getting a chance at Louis, perhaps a year from now.

If Thomas loses to Adamick, Louis' next opponent will be either the winner of the Buddy Baer-Gunnar Barlund scrap or the winner of the Max Baer-Tommy Farr battle, in which case New York and not Chicago would be the scene of the next Louis unveiling.

Thomas Favored
Strangely enough, everybody connected with the 20th Century club, of which Jacobs is the guiding genius, thinks Thomas is a good bet to beat Adamick. In this they are at odds with the fight fans who have installed Adamick a 2 to 1 favorite.

Adamick has never shown here and the fans are taking him on a combination of faith, Jack Kearns' say-so and his own workouts. If he can take "Thumping" Adamick, Kearns will quickly show him into the important money brigade.

Louis' managers, Julian Black and John Roxborough, are insisting that the boxer engage in another fight after meeting Natie Mann next week and before facing Schmeling in June.

Want Tune Up
Neither Black nor Roxborough will admit that Louis is not at his peak for a defense of his title right now, but it is worthy of note that they are demanding another tune-up battle for him.

They admit that Louis is overweight. Just how much he weighs is something of a mystery but his camp followers concede that he scales at least 205. This Black and Roxborough would have you believe is because he is a few months older than the last time he trained for a fight.

In any event, you can bet on the foregoing program: Louis vs. Thomas in Chicago if Thomas beats Adamick, or if not, Louis versus the winner of one of the two other major bouts in New York.

Titans To Meet Slippery Rock

Game Saturday Night—Westminster Has Won Ten And Lost Four

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 18.—

With a record of ten won and four lost for the season, the Westminster Titans, fresh from a double-barreled victory over Bethany and Waynesburg on foreign courts, open a series of five home games with Coach Thompson's Slippery Rock five Saturday night, Feb. 19, at 8:15.

The Titan squad will be in good shape for the game, with the exception of Grubb, Youngstown forward, still on the sidelines with a bad knee. The tall Titan Junior, however, expects to begin practice this week after a six weeks' layoff. Particularly pleasing to Coach Washbaugh has been the return to form of Ralph Gilliland, New Wilmington senior forward, who scored ten points against Waynesburg.

Andy Demo, playing his final year for the Blue and White in whirlwind attacks on the district scoring honors, with his 18 points scored at Waynesburg, has 199 points in 14 games, for a 14-point per game average. The Johnstown forward's slump on the eastern trip dropped his average, but with eight games to go, Demo should be at the top of the heap among district point-getters at the end of the season.

Although Coach Thompson's eagerness have had only an average season, with about an even break on games, the Rockets always play the Titans a close game that is won only with the final whistle.

Probable Titan starters for the Saturday night game will be Demo and Gilliland, forwards; Backus, center; and Miller and Krivosh, guards. Blue and White substitutes may see action in the final half if the Titans can secure a safe lead.

Following the Rocket-Titan clash, the Titans meet Youngstown at New Wilmington Monday night, Feb. 21.

Rotary Club Ladies Night Is Gala Event

W. H. Duwell, Of Youngstown, Talks On National Retail Bakers Week

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 18.—Last night was a gala night with the Rotarians. It was Rotary Ann night.

Fred Paton was introduced as a new Rotarian and given hearty welcome.

Bob Shearer had a great program which he coined out of National Retail Bakers Week which is to be next week.

Paul Winter sang one of the songs of the National Bakers as a solo, and jazzed and crooned it with quite professional syncopation. He also tried to lead the multitude in a song feast, but the multitude was unresponsive, insisting upon the songs of its own choice. President H. W. Smith was in charge of the meeting and had the meeting well in hand most of the time.

Harold Burns made the announcement in regard to the Institute of Better International Understanding. Calling attention to the fact that similar institutes in the neighborhood had been running from two to three hundred in attendance and hoped Ellwood City would go far beyond them all.

Bob Shearer introduced as the speaker of the evening W. H. Duwell of Youngstown, Mr. Duwell told of the car loads of yeast, malt, syrup, great quantities of eggs, milk and sugar, as well as flour, which were used each week by the bakers of this region. He then gave an illustrated lecture on the advantages of bakery methods of baking over those of the skillful housewife. He succeeded in doing this without incurring any opposition.

The second portion of the lecture had to do with the excellence of bread as a food, showing among other things that people might keep well and fit and full of mettle and reduce at the same time, by eating a bread diet. This was a matter of some enthusiasm for a number of those present.

Mr. Shearer presented each Rotary Ann with a gift which was a box of assorted baked goods.

Mr. and Mrs. Harden Green were special guests of the evening.

Next week the Rotary club will return to normal with the program in charge of Frank Moore, chairman of the program committee.

Stock Market Range Is Steady

Trading Is Active On Opening Rally But Slows Down Later

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—The stock market settled back into a narrow and steady price range today after an initial extension of yesterday's fair-sized gains.

Trading was active on the opening rally, but slowed as profit-taking gradually cut gains to a minimum. Support was met before noon, and the general list turned dull around the day's close.

Business news contained little of encouragement. Car loadings slumped 21,749 units in the week ended Feb. 12 to 542,991 cars, and showed a drop of 145,532 from the like 1937 week. Rail shares as a result were independently soft.

Union Pacific losing 2 points, and Santa Fe half as much. U. S. Steel was up 1/4, and Bethlehem a point at the start, but each slipped slightly under last night's closing levels later in the forenoon.

Chrysler, in the motors, gave up most of its initial climb of 1 1/2, on an opening sale of 2,500 shares at 37 1/2. General Motors held close to its previous finish.

Chemicals were firm, Allied Chemical leading with an early jump of 2 points. DuPont was up almost as much, but lost most of its gain under profit-taking.

Foreign markets were somewhat improved, following recent weakness. American shares gained slightly in Amsterdam and London.

Where General State Authority Will Sponsor $5,000,000 Program

TEN more major buildings will dot the campus of the Pennsylvania State College on the completion of the $5,000,000 building program which the General State Authority will soon inaugurate at the College. Ground-breaking ceremonies will be held Saturday, Feb. 26. All of the buildings in the program will be constructed on the 200-acre front campus, part of which is shown in the above air view. The building program will ultimately increase the valuation of the physical plant at Penn State to more than $15,000,000 and open a new era in the service of the College to the people of the state in resident instruction, research and extension activities.

Drive Is Opened On Deer-Killing Mountain Lions

The eradication campaign was started following discovery of 18 carcasses of deer within bounds of a ranch, Elva Mayfield, Edward Berger, and Homer Pickens, the wardens, each with a pack of lion dogs entered the area on their hunt.

First victim of the drive was a full-grown female lion bronchially down in the steep-cliffed Oregon mountains.

The terrain is described as being structurally favorable for the propagation of wild life because of innumerable steep precipices and caves. Much of the area is impenetrable to men and dogs, the wardens said.
